

Dear Balboa Island Museum Family and New Friends,

For the third year in a row, the Los Angeles Times has named the Balboa Island Museum of Newport Beach “Best In The Southland” in its museum category of recognition. This is impressive; a huge vote of professional and public appreciation for a small treasure of maritime history curated by a talented and dedicated team throughout the year.

With an annual calendar of programs, special events, exhibits and lectures, as well as civic, educational, and cultural community outreach, the Balboa Island Museum of Newport Beach functions completely on donations. Admission is always free to all.

Coming October 18, 2024, the museum team presents its 4th annual major fundraiser at the iconic Balboa Peninsula Fun Zone. This year the party of the season, delivered with emphasis on big fun and style, will take on a Western theme: Cowboy Carnival! Boots, hats, jeans, and bandanas are de rigueur for an evening under the balmy fall skies of Newport Beach, with games, fabulous western BBQ, designer margaritas, decadent desserts, and line dancing to a country band until the last dancer calls it quits.

We promise you will have the best time possible west of Texas, and you'll be making a great difference supporting this community treasure, the Balboa Island Museum of Newport Beach.

Adults only please. Leave the youngins' home. Tell them about how much fun you had the next morning and that you went for them. Why? Because the museum will live on for another generation and they will one day attend the annual Fun Zone party when they grow up.

As you make your reservation for Cowboy Carnival, consider becoming a donor. Your contribution to the museum ensures its survival and growth. This year the museum board of directors is launching a campaign to raise $25 million for the eventual purchase of a permanent building. An ambitious goal, yet achievable with community involvement and support. Every donation matters, regardless of amount.

For more information on supporting the museum fundraising campaign, please visit www.balboaislandmuseum.org or call Tiffany Pepys Hoey, Executive Director, at 949.675.3952.

With excitement and kind regards,

Shirley Pepys
